NYARUGURU · RWANDA

EVERY SIP TELLS A STORY.

SHANANA COFFEE

Born in the mountains of Rwanda. Crafted with care. Shared with the world.

WHOLESALE PARTNER OVERVIEW

100% ARABICA · NYARUGURU, RWANDA

THE NAME

Shanana.

The traditional dress of Rwandan women.

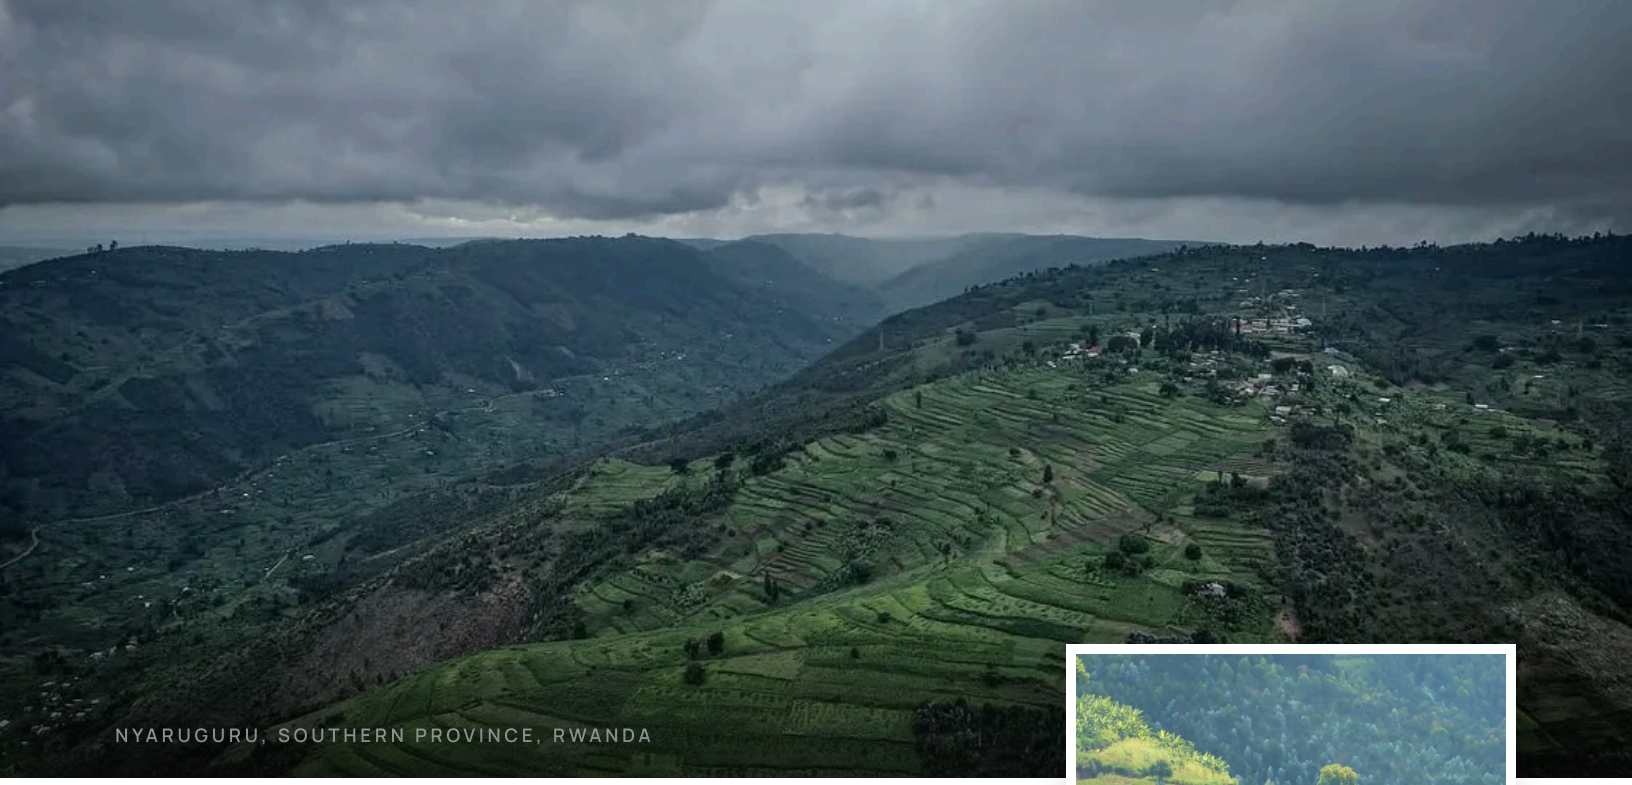

Shanana is the traditional dress of women in Rwanda. It has been part of Rwandan culture for centuries, worn by generations of Rwandan women.

Taking this name roots Shanana Coffee in Rwandan heritage, and in the women who are part of it. Our coffee is grown in the mountains of Nyaruguru, produced and packaged in Rwanda, and made to carry the story of the people and the place behind every cup.

WHAT EVERY CUP CARRIES

A story of heritage, perseverance, craftsmanship and opportunity.

NYARUGURU, SOUTHERN PROVINCE, RWANDA

Grown where the mountains meet the clouds.

In the highlands of Rwanda's Southern Province, our coffee grows slowly: at 1,800 to 1,900 meters, in a cool climate, on mountainous terrain and volcanic soils. Cherries are harvested, depulped, fermented, washed and dried with hands-on care from local workers, then produced and packaged in Rwanda.

BEYOND THE CUP

The impact behind every cup.

Shanana is building a commercially sustainable coffee business that creates opportunity on both sides of the cup. These are our commitments and intended outcomes; we will publish impact figures only once they can be verified.

Women & communities

Recognizing the work of women in coffee

Supporting women involved in cultivation and processing, and celebrating the skill of local coffee workers.

Families & education

Steadier incomes for farming families

Helping families build more stable incomes and the ability to invest in their children's education.

Employment

Value created close to the farm

Production, packaging and logistics in Rwanda support local jobs and promote Rwandan coffee internationally.

Rwanda & the U.S.

A lasting trade connection

Long-term relationships with American cafés, retailers and distributors, and more people tasting Rwandan coffee.
